An increase in the license fees for commercial broadcasting stations, on a graded basis, is under consideration.

Celebrate Fifty-Seventh Wedding Anniversary

To live together for fifty-seven years is enjoyed only by a very few. Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Devitt attained that last week, when they quietly celebrated the fifty-seventh anniversary of their marriage, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. J. Harder.

They were married in Kitchener, (then Berlin) and lived in Ontario until 1910 when they moved to this district. For some years they farmed about 18 miles northwest of Didsbury, and on retiring came to live with their daughter in Didsbury.

There have been five children born to the union, four daughters and one son: Mrs. Zantz, of Waterloo, Ont.; Mrs. H. Green, of High River; Mrs. Harder, of Didsbury; Mrs. Dreyfus, of Detroit; and Mr. J. K. Devitt, of Tilbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Devitt were recipients of a number of gifts, and as well as their many friends in wishing them continued happiness, and hope they will be spared to attain their diamond wedding anniversary, and even more.

Successful Concert.

The concert given by the Didsbury, Westcott and Westerdale Ladies Aid Society in the Opera House last Friday evening, demonstrated that the local talent of the district can produce a very delightful entertainment.

The Westcott group opened the program with a male quartet, comprising Messrs. J. Robertson, H. J. Stockley, R. Webster and A. Robertson, who rendered several selections with splendid harmony, which delighted the audience.

Miss Edwards gave two humorous readings, and Miss Dorothy Webster rendered a monologue, accompanied by Mr. R. Webster. The Misses Le-Vaughed also gave a pianoforte duet.

The Didsbury group gave a musical sketch, "Memories," which was a pleasing innovation from the ordinary.

Westerdale's contribution was a playlet, "They Say," given by Mrs. Herbert, Miss Jones, Mrs. Cowie, Mrs. W. Klein and Miss B. Landrum.

A competition between the groups which was to be decided by the applause from the audience, resulted in a tie, the judges, Messrs. R. Kendrick and F. Jackson, declaring that the applause was so equal, they could not make any decision.

The proceeds of the concert will be devoted to the manse fund.

Old-Time Didsburyites Meet in Vancouver

Mr. Alex Hendry, of Vancouver, writes telling of a re-union of Didsbury people being held in the Olympic Hall, Vancouver, on March 1st.

He states that there were sixty old residents present and they enjoyed a wonderful evening, spent in talking over the times spent on the prairies.

This is the third annual picnic and it is now intended to form a Didsbury Society at the coast city.

Mr. Hendry states that the gathering was organized largely through the efforts of Mr. Stanley Hardy.

A correspondent reports that the Carter Well, near Coal Camp, west of here, is down to a depth of 2,000 feet.

City Refused Power To Set Up "Milk" Law

Bringing to a close one of the most contentious and bitterly-fought meetings in the history of the municipal law committee of the legislature, the committee on Monday, by a vote of 11 to 10, refused to grant the city of Calgary power to institute a by-law providing for the compulsory pasteurization of milk in that city.

An enabling clause had been included in the bill amending the Calgary charter, which was under discussion in committee.

The committee, however, did approve of an amendment to the charter, which would give the city power to restrict the sale of milk to pasteurized and natural milk, produced, distributed and sold under the supervision of the city medical health department.

HOCKEY

OLDS vs. DIDSBURY.

Playing at Olds last Saturday night, Didsbury puck chasers completely outclassed the Olds sextet and won by 5-1. The locals started with a rush, and only fine work by Mathew saved an early score. Olds threatened when Hube Gooder was right through with only Russell to beat, but Al. blocked the shot. Didsbury scored on a pretty combination play, and the period ended.

The second period saw the local score three goals to one by Olds. Russell was outstanding in this frame and made many brilliant saves. Gidger scored in the last session to put the locals four up and clinch the game. Didsbury played short-handed during practically all of this period and at one time only had three men, with the goalie, on the ice.

The officiating by Hacking, of Olds, was laughable. He did all in his power to aid Olds to win, but the locals were just too good, even rank refereeing couldn't stop them.

At the meeting of the town council held on Monday evening, it was decided to engage Mr. E. W. Nowers of Calgary, to revise the assessment roll.

Are We Over-Governed?

The current economic depression, and the resultant financial stringency, —possibly the order of these two conditions should be reversed—have led to the advancement of many suggestions and ideas having as their object the effecting of economies in national, provincial and municipal spheres of government and administration. Unquestionably people generally are in a frame of mind to give that serious consideration to these matters which they deserve but which would have been denied to them a few years ago.

Mounting national, provincial and municipal debts, resulting in the two evils of curtailed public services and higher taxation, reacting adversely upon all individual and community business, is leading serious-minded men and women to realize that their must be a reduction in the costs of our governmental business, and that such reduction must be on a fairly large scale; that the mere lopping off of a few minor services, a percentage reduction in salaries, will not suffice; that, on the contrary, savings aggregating many millions of dollars annually must be effected.

The issue is one extending far beyond the bounds of partisan politics; rather it rests within the domain of higher politics, that is, it is a vital, integral part of the true science of government. As such it can and must be discussed openly, boldly, fearlessly, and to that discussion, and ultimate consideration of facts and proposals, every thinking man and woman should be patriotically inspired to make their contribution. It is their own business, their own future, as well as the business and future of their Dominion which is at stake.

Herbert Spencer once wrote: "The man who, expending his energies wholly on private matters refuses to take part in public affairs, plunging himself on his vision in minding his own business, is blind to the fact that his own business is made possible only by the property of all."

There are some people who still pride themselves on remaining aloof from all participation in public affairs. They even assume a superior attitude and treat with condescension those who take an active interest in community affairs, politics, and international relationships. But the trend of events in recent years has shattered the self-complacency of many of these individuals, and compelled them to recognize the truth of Herbert Spencer's dictum that the business, the success, the happiness, of the individual is made possible only to the extent that these things are enjoyed by all.

Even powerful nations which gloried in and boasted of their "splendid isolation," their indifference to the fate of other nations and peoples, and who regarded themselves as self-sufficient unto themselves, are being forced to alter their views and change their attitude. Geographically and in a physical sense the world may be just as big as it ever was, it may even be bigger in other respects, but it is very much smaller in so far as the relation of one nation to another is concerned. The factor of time in inter-communication has been almost annihilated by wireless, radio, the telephone, airships, fast steamships, steam and electric railways, and automobiles. A man living 100 miles away is nearer to us than one only 10 miles away half a century ago.

We are conforming to these radical changes in many of our personal, business, economic and social relationships, but in many respects we have ignored them in the development of our governmental functions, adhering rather to systems and policies laid down in by-gone years and in an altogether differently constituted world. Only in recent years have people been awakening to this fact, and the difficulties with which all peoples and governments have been confronted within the last two or three years are forcing upon them the conclusion that it is high time that something was done to bring governmental institutions into harmony with the new era in which we are living.

Without assuming to say what ought to be done, and without attempting even the task of offering suggestions, the writer proposes in succeeding articles to discuss some of the suggestions that have been advanced in certain quarters. He proposes to do so with only one object in view, and that is to encourage readers of this column to give consideration to these matters, to think them over, to study them, to discuss them with friends and neighbors, in a word, to assist in creating and developing a new public opinion in relation to the whole subject of our legislative and administrative machinery, that is, our entire governmental structure and the effect of it, as it exists, upon what are at present regarded as essential revenues and expenditures, involving not only present but the ever steadily increasing taxation of the individual.

Her Heart Was So Bad Couldn't Do Housework

Mrs. S. Dragomir, R.R. 2, Midland, Ont., writes: "I had been troubled with heart trouble for many years. My heart would beat so fast I could hardly breathe, and I had headaches, and dizzy and fainting spells."

I couldn't get my housework done I was so weak. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and felt much better, and now I would not be without them in the house."

Not Enough For One

Smallest Christmas Pudding Was Only Inch in Diameter

The smallest Christmas pudding in the world, made entirely of Empire produce and weighing less than 1/2 lb., was exhibited side by side with a mammoth 16-ton plum pudding at the Royal Albert Hall, Kensington, S.W., London, England.

It was one inch in diameter and weighed 166 grains, and was specially made for the Christmas market in aid of the People's Dispensary for the Sick Animals of the Poor, by Miss Lily Dalton, who required the assistance of a mathematician and a chemist to work out and weigh the various ingredients. "It was made," she said, "from a recipe handed on to me by my grandmother. The 13 ingredients had to be chopped many times before they were sufficiently fine."

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly 90 per cent of the ailments due to indigestion, flatulence, sourness, burning, bloating, etc., are caused by an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The deficient secretion of pepsin, which is essential for the digestion of food, causes the disordered conditions which every stomach sufferer knows well.

Artificially secreted acids are not needed in such cases and they do not harm the system. They should be neutralized and induced out from any druggist, some laxative, or laxative. Take a few spoonfuls of powder or four tablets in water right after each meal. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Disordered stomachs are relieved of indigestion—never build up acidity is harmless to the stomach. It is the most efficient form of treatment for stomach troubles. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Expedition To Antarctic

It was announced in London, England, recently, that H. G. Watkins, youthful leader of last year's Greenland expedition party, would head an expedition into the Antarctic next fall.

The expedition, which will sail in the early autumn, will attempt to cross the Antarctic from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea and map the southwest coast of Weddell Sea.

For Sprains and Bruises. There is nothing better for sprains and contusions than Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It will reduce the swelling that follows a sprain and will cool the inflamed flesh and draw the pain. It will take the ache out of a bruise by counteracting the inflammation. A trial will convince any who doubt its power.

Close London Office

Office Of Alberta Agent-General May Be Closed As Economy Measure

It is estimated here that elimination of the office will save the Alberta Government approximately $20,000 annually.

Invented Differential Gear

Alexander Gallinger Failed To Get Patent For Idea

Alexander Gallinger, 87, inventor of a differential gear, is dead at his farm home Oshkosh, Wisconsin. In 1877, Gallinger and John Morse, owner of a foundry there, built a tractor which employed the differential principle. They drove it from Green Bay to Madison to obtain a $5,000 award offered by the legislature for demonstrating the invention's practicability.

Gallinger failed to patent his invention and consequently never earned anything from it, outside the legislature's award. The differential letter came to be an important part of the automobile.

Gallinger was born in Gallings-ton, Ontario, in 1841, and went to Oshkosh at the age of 18.

Giant Flying Boat

An official of the Imperial Airways, interviewed by the Express, said negotiations were being carried on between Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways in connection with the proposed service. He said also that the flying boat would be the biggest ever known.

Grand Stand Attractions For Chas "A" Exhibitions Will Up To Standard

In the opinion of J. E. Rottie, secretary-manager of the Brandon Provincial Exhibition, the grandstand attractions to play around the western Canada circuit of chas "A" exhibitions this year, are well up to the standard of other quality programmes secured in other years. The pages selected for evening performances is called "Canada Marching On" and there is an entire ballet, vocal and dancing units connected with this production. It carries 64 people, but this will include 20 girls engaged locally.

The other acts on the programme include Duncan's colles, the Five Juggling Jewels, the Los Ovidus, three people in syncretized acrobatics, Ellen Dea on the slack wire, Harry and Go Lucky, comic acrobatics, and May, Teddy and Eddy in dancing numbers.

While every class "A" exhibition in western Canada is putting on running races, Brandon will feature only harness events. Regina and Brandon staged the harness horses in 1921, but this year Regina plans on a return to the gallopers.

Close London Office

Office Of Alberta Agent-General May Be Closed As Economy Measure

Office of the Alberta Agent-General in London, England, will be closed as an economy measure, it is understood.

The office was opened in 1915 and Hon. Herbert Greenfield, former Alberta Premier, was in charge for four years, retiring in March, 1921. Hugh M. Baker, Mr. Greenfield's secretary, has been in charge of the office since.

It is estimated here that elimination of the office will save the Alberta Government approximately $20,000 annually.

Western Canada Fairs

Grand Stand Attractions For Chas "A" Exhibitions Will Up To Standard

In the opinion of J. E. The pages selected for evening performances is called "Canada Marching On" and there is an entire ballet, vocal and dancing units connected with this production. ## Possible Changes In Our Present Economic System Stressed By Robert Gardiner Possible change in the present economic system of government was stressed by Robert Gardiner in his presidential address to the annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta, Mr. Gardiner, U.F.A. member in the House of Commons for Acadia, succeeded Henry Wood as president of the farmer body when Mr. Wood retired last year after 10 years as head of the organization.

In his first presidential address Mr. Gardiner declared that if the present economic system "has not reached its full maturity, the present depression will pass, but if it has, fundamental changes in the social system are impending." Social change he believed inevitable.

"I do not believe that the changes when they come, will inevitably be in the interests of the masses of mankind," he told the 500 delegates from the various parts of Alberta. "The elements which dominate the existing system will undoubtedly endeavor to guide the processes by which the succeeding system may be established. These elements are to be found outside our parliamentary institutions; for in the light of recent history it is becoming increasingly apparent that political governments occupy but a secondary place in the scheme of things."

The president declared that governments apparently chose "to abdicate before the threat of irresponsible elements rather than to rally the people behind them, as they might, by a bold effort to free industry from its trammels." He said the "real struggle" was carried on by "realists" who doubt "in hard facts—money, credit, the whole machinery of commerce and industry, and the manner of its control."

"Some of the most influential of these people are chosen by the will to power, by the ambition to achieve complete control of the social system. If they do succeed in maintaining control of the processes in the not distant future the ushering in, in its most perfect form, of the servile state, the establishment of a new order, may be, the guises of benevolence, of a tyranny such as the world has not yet known."

Mr. Gardiner, however, believed that if "mass intelligence" was developed and organized in such a manner that it controlled and guided the processes of change, "we can confidently look forward to an age of plenty, to an era in world history, brighter, perhaps, than any which the human mind has yet conceived."

He pleaded for intelligent understanding and organization which he declared necessary. "If we choose to take the path to a better social order," development in the strength of the local, "the basis of our organization," was stressed by the president as essential to success of "a co-operative commonwealth."

Unemployment and the gold standard were referred to by the farm leader. He believed that if the inventive genius of the present generation was permitted full play it would result in a higher standard of living and provide the people with an abundance of leisure for self-development, but it was interestingly manifest that this could not occur under the present economic order. Depreciation of the Canadian dollar, he continued, made it doubtful whether a single commodity such as gold could be successfully used under all conditions as a basis for the issue of currency and credit.

In reference to reparations, the president pointed out the tendency to blame this result of the war for the world's ills. He maintained that if this problem had been non-existent the defects in the present competitive economic system would sooner or later have produced a similar financial crisis which prevails at present. The chief threat to the peace of the world lies in intensified commercial competition between nations and only when it is recognized that underlying economic causes make war inevitable will peace appear.

For governments to balance budgets under prevailing conditions it is necessary to decrease expenditures or increase taxation. "To increase, however, the taxes of those whose income is below or only at present on a bare subsistence level would be to increase present hardship," he added. "If, however, increased taxes were confined to those who are able to pay, those whose incomes are more than is necessary to meet reasonable requirements, no apparent harm would be done."

The president urged that there be no further alienation of the natural resources of Alberta to private interests, but that they be developed under public ownership, for the benefit of the present and future generations. He referred to the serious situation of the transportation systems in the Dominion, but added that comment on this matter would be unwise until the report of the royal commission at present investigating the matter was made available.

The farmer's predicament was serious. Even where crops were excellent the return barely covered the costs of production, leaving little or nothing to meet other liabilities. "The prices of the goods, and services which the farmer must purchase have been only slightly reduced in comparison with the prices received by the farmer for the products of his labor," Mr. Gardiner declared. Rates on banks and mortgage loans and other farm indebtedness remain as high as formerly.

"Even if commodity prices other than farm products were reduced to a parity with the present prices of agricultural commodities, it would still be impossible for the farmer to meet in full liabilities contracted during a period of high prices," he concluded. "The soundness of the co-operative principle, however, was never more widely recognized than today." He urged the farmers to continue strengthening of the co-operative institutions.

An Interesting Study

Thousands Of Bees Found To Be Working In Full Force Colony

One of the most interesting of the studies in agriculture carried out under the direction of C. D. Goodrich, Dominion Apiarist, relates to the number of "fliers" or bees in a colony in the field at work gathering honey and nectar during the period of a heavy flow. On the basis of 2,000 bees to a pound it has been determined by recording the weights of colonies resting on weighing trucks, that as many as twenty to twenty-five thousand bees from one colony are working in the field at the time. In one case the total hive force was computed at 55,625 bees with 20,425 in the field, leaving a hive force of 35,000. In another case where the total colony numbered 66,250 it was found that 27,187 were flying abroad with a reserve hive force of 29,063.

Plenty Of Samples

In a railway carriage were several travellers and a stout, pompous old gentleman. Various and unsuccessful efforts were made to draw him into conversation. At length one said, "Come, sir, I know you are one of us! Tell us what you are travelling in." "Young man," answered the pompous man, glaring at his interlocutor, "I am travelling in very objectionable and inquisitive company, and the carriage is full of samples!"

Opinion Of Average Citizen

Radio Advertising Is Most Objectionable Writes One Of Them

Radio, unlike any other invention, brings the voices of the world uninvited right into our bedside. I say uninvited because no one ever tuned in on an advertising tale they tuned in on the music which soon regenerated into a driving, soulful advertising effusion.

I am Mr. Average Citizen, liking average things, speaking and pronouncing the King's English and struggling hard against the radio to raise my two children to be and do likewise. But whom does radio project uninvited into my bedside room and sit down at my dining room table? You know—impossible negroes, mispronouncing cross-eyed gossips, gross brakers for household equipment, mowing so-called tenors and silly salesfolk for shoes, etc., who talk feet, feet, feet, as I try to eat.

No such people as these ever darken my threshold in the flesh, yet radio, and in the name of advertising, if you please, enable them to crash in uninvited into my privacy, into my home—"my castle." Radio advertising is making us mad and telling us of the impotent gate-crashing products not to buy.

Give us national broadcasting free of advertising as the ideal, but it not, confine the advertising to the mention of the sponsor's name only, and that mention in the King's English.—Letter in Toronto Mail and Empire.

Butterfat Record

Creameries In Alberta Show Increase For December

Creameries in Alberta received $10,945 pounds of butterfat in cream during the four weeks ending December 26, 1931, an increase of 105,433 pounds, or 11.1 per cent, over the receipts for December, 1930, according to an announcement from the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Receipts of butterfat for the 52 weeks of 1931 amounted to 19,106,372 lbs., compared with 15,187,266 lbs. for the year 1930, an increase of 25.8 per cent, or 24.1 per cent. It is interesting to note that the increase for the year 1931 over 1930 in the northern section of the province was 29.9 per cent; in the central portion 33.2 per cent; and in the southern portion 12.0 per cent. The butterfat receipts for 1931 constitute a record for the province.

Despite Mournful Predictions, Social Economist Says That England Still Leads The World

A world-wide economic conference within the next 12 months, at which representatives from all countries in the world would gather to thresh out the whole question of tariffs, was the prediction made by Dr. J. Wesley Braddy, social economist and child welfare authority, of Toronto. Dr. Braddy was addressing a joint luncheon meeting of the Rotary and Canadian clubs in Moose Jaw.

Referring to England's recent swing to high tariff after 85 years of free trade, Dr. Braddy stated that Britain had receded from her position as the outstanding exponent of free trade for purposes of practical expediency. "United States and France by their tariff stand had made trade with England almost impossible, and now England was 'giving them a dose of their own medicine.'"

"International commerce can be conducted on a one-way street" was his comment.

Dr. Braddy believed a world economic conference such as he had in mind would mark the beginning of a swing to greater free trade among the nations and the tearing down of the super-exalted trade barriers. United States and France were now beginning to realize that nations, even as individuals could not live unaided, he said.

"Where now stands England?" was the topic upon which Dr. Braddy based his address, and during his remarks he told of personal observations made during his 10 years of social research work in England. Britain's day of glory was far from being past, he said, in spite of the mournful predictions which were being made for her from many sources.

England, following the war, was an exhausted nation, said the speaker, but in spite of her tremendous sacrifice of men and money she was still leading the way in the councils of the world. If England was no lacking in spirit and initiative, as it was claimed by her "professional mourners," it was to be wondered at that at the present time she held all the world speed records on land, sea and air.

"And these records were all won in British machines conceived and made by British minds," he remarked.

England's ships were still carrying the largest imports and exports of any country in the world and in spite of the concentrated attacks from New York, she was still the centre of world finance. British trademarks still stood for honesty and integrity, and Britain's world today was "still as good as her bond," said the speaker vehemently.

Referring to criticisms levelled at Britain's monetary system of government by leading economists of the United States, Dr. Braddy pointed out that the States had derived the idea of their own constitution from the England they were criticizing. England might have a monarchical system of government, but she was a true republican in the sense that she gave equal opportunity to all to rise to the highest positions, and the greatest statesmen in her history had come from the humblest ranks.

The speaker was of the opinion that if one wished to criticize it would appear that in the United States the great majority of those who rose to high political power had to have either a strong political pull or be millionaires first.

In closing reference was made to the question of reparations, and it was pointed out that as far back as 1922 England had been prepared, for the world's good, to wipe the slate clean of all war debts. It was only now, however, that economists of the United States and France were beginning to wake up to the fact that post-war indebtedness had been the primary and devastating cause of the present economic chaos throughout the world.

Apples and Oranges

Amusing Story Regarding Competition Between Fruit Growers

Competition between rival fruit-growers of California and Oregon leads to curious attempts at all kinds of publicity. In their eagerness to mislead the public, they are beginning to themselves and suppressing their competitors, the orange-growers did not overlook the approach of "The Apple Cart" to the California theatres.

The director of the play received a call from a delegation of orange-growers, who requested him to change the name to "The Orange Box" while it played in their State. He was first bewildered, then amused, and finally insisted that he could not change the name, and didn't see that it advertised the Oregon apple anyhow.

The orange-growers refused to accept no for an answer. They found out the author's name and address and called him at some length, their request. Not until they realised Mr. Shaw's one-word cable—essentially—imply did they give up their efforts.

Has Enjoyed Record Weather

Aklavik Had Second Highest Temperature Last Week In November

The residents of Aklavik on the Arctic Coast may well "pat themselves on the back" as for once in many a long year they had the distinction recently of recording the second highest or warmest temperature in the Dominion of Canada.

After having been known as Aklavik in the frozen Arctic wastes for so long, it was with no small degree of pride that the inhabitants could point to a temperature of 42 degrees above zero the last week in November. Only one other point in Canada recorded a warmer temperature on that date, while from the Rockies to the Atlantic freezing temperatures prevailed.

"Have you slept well?" "I didn't sleep at all, doctor." "But didn't you take the sleeping powder I gave you?" "Yes, but when I thought that a little bit of powder could cost so much I couldn't sleep for thinking of it."—Faun, Vienna.

"I have been engaged to him for two years. Isn't it time I married him?" "I don't know. If you really love him, let him be happy as long as possible."—Hummer, Hamburg.

"BUY IN DIDSBURY"

We have our "Buy British" and
"Buy Canadian" slogans, which no doubt are doing much to keep the wheels of industry turning. But what we need to do here in Didsbury is to bring the idea home. We need to start a "Buy in Didsbury" campaign.

Every dollar that goes out of our town makes business here just that much poorer. There is very little money in circulation and unless we spend the little that we have in our own town, our merchants will be obliged to close up and move elsewhere. We should remember that they have to live during those hard times as well as the rest of us, and that they are dependent upon the business that we give them for their living.

We believe that the merchants of Didsbury are selling goods just as cheaply as they possibly can, and doing all in their power to bring down the high cost of living. Prices have not been as low in years as they are today and may not be as low again for a long time to come. Now is the time to buy. If you have money laid by, you can get more for it by spending it now than perhaps you ever will again. We would like to point out also who we are about it, that it is not fair to compare prices here with those in Calgary unless we add the cost of transportation. If those who do their shopping in the city would add the cost of their trip to the price of their purchases, they would find that they would be money ahead to buy in Didsbury. There is no doubt about it, in the long run money spent at home will yield the largest returns.

Let us then be loyal to our own town. Let us contribute all we can to the expansion of its financial structure.
In doing so we are but helping one another. In a community such as this, business men and farmers are simple friends and neighbors, and we should therefore do all we can to help each other in such times as these.
Let the business and professional men pay a high value and service as they possibly can, and let us in return pay them as much patronage as we possibly can. The more business they do, the better prices they will be able to offer. "Buy in Didsbury."

To the Editor:

Dear Sir—After your exhaustive explanation of the cause and effect of the low price of butterfat and butter, in your issue of February 25th, could you explain how, when butterfat at our local creamery was 14 cents per pound, which is less than 12 cents per pound for butter, butter was selling in the local stores for 33 cents per pound; and now, when eggs are retailing in the stores in Calgary—from 40 to 50 cents per dozen they are only worth 20 cents per dozen in Didsbury.

The average farmer would never look if the consumer was getting half a penny but at the present time he is being exploited. Thanking you,

LOCAL HAYSEED.

New Brunswick will be selected

Autumn sowing of all grains in Soviet Russia last year amounted to 95,460,000 acres, representing a decrease of 10.8 per cent from the official fall sowing programme mapped out by the government according to a recent cable received by the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce.

Week-end trips, so popular last year on Canadian Railway lines, will remain in force this year after February 29, the date set for their discontinuation. The Canadian Passenger Association has decided this decision under pressure of public demand. Under this arrangement, round trip tickets between any Canadian stations for any week-end are offered by the railways at the rate of one and a quarter times the regular single fare.

RED CROSS HAS BUSIEST YEAR SINCE WARTIME

Hon. Wm. Egbert, President of Alberta Branch, Canadian Red Cross presided on Saturday, February 27th, in the Public Library, Calgary, at the annual meeting of the Society when there was a large attendance of delegates, members and friends.

In a comprehensive report Mrs. C.
B. Waagen, the Honorary Commissioner, reviewed the year's work which she said had been one of the most difficult and certainly one of the busiest in the annals of the Society. It proved to be a story of intense human interest, ranging from relief to the indigent and the food-stricken sufferers to the cure and care of crippled children in the Junior Red Cross hospital, and the operation of hostels for the homeless and hungry, as well as special service to mothers and to the blind.

Records give the following interesting statistics: In the Red Cross hospital 117 cases of sick and crippled children were treated, mostly orthopedic patients; 12 out-patients were also cared for, close co-operation with the Institute for the Blind resulting in supplying several northern children with glasses, thus conserving their sight and enabling them to attend school.

The most important piece of work done during the past year was in connection with the distribution of relief to thousands of destitute people.
Clothing from the Dominion Government stores was distributed to 5,372 persons, and hospital supplies were donated to 70 rural hospitals. Emergency services were rendered in connection with the Wayne flood, food and clothing being given to 72 adults and 32 children. A hostel for homeless men was operated with meals and lodging for 334 men and 1,314 ex-service men were supplied with clothing during the months of June and July.

Friendly co-operation with the United Church resulted in the Red Cross distributing a large stock of second-hand clothing which had been sent from the East for the assistance of the settlers in the drought-stricken areas of the South.

A free milk service was maintained by the City of Edmonton for unemployed ex-service men's families and proved of inestimable worth to others.

The annual work of Red Cross branches is reported in the dozens of bulletins which are given to the public through the courtesy of C. J. Jones, Edmonton, when much distribution of health literature results from the correspondence of local listeners.

Although during the past year a total of 28,018 persons have been helped in various ways, the work of the Society is far from over.

A feeling of optimism prevailed at the meeting and a note of courage for the future was sounded by the Hon.
Wm. Egbert as he commended to the Society the formation of more Red Cross branches in the west.

A group of 100 people to help themselves and solve their local problems in their own communities by means of active Red Cross branches with all citizens as members. The presented proposition had brought home to all the importance of keeping alive
a strong Red Cross, said the chairman, and in this way people would be less prone to look to governments for assistance.

Mrs. C. B. Waagen was unanimously re-elected to the office of first vice-president and Honorary Commissioner, while large and representative executive committee was appointed.
The thanks of the Red Cross were extended to all who had assisted during the difficult times of the past year and an urgent call issued to all to continue their interest in the benevolent work of the Society for 1932.

New Chevrolet
Six Owners
Know What a Difference Six
Cylinders Make!

SO many motorists have discovered the difference six cylinders make that today the Chevrolet Six leads all other automobiles in sales.

Six cylinders are better in every way. For example, Chevrolet's six-cylinder motor "picks-up" in high gear quickly and without vibration. You get away ahead of the traffic and you do not have to shift gears so often.
Secondly, you can drive as fast and as far as you like without any sense of strain or fatigue. For six-cylinder travel is smooth, quiet and restful at every speed.

Then, too, Chevrolet smoothness is built-in smoothness —inherent in six-cylinder design and Chevrolet's method of insulating engine from chassis by thick rubber cushions.
It protects against the wear-and-tear of constant vibration as long as you drive your Chevrolet.

In addition to these great advantages, Chevrolet offers you Free Wheeling with safe, silent Synchro-Mesh gear shifting. It gives you 60-horsepower performance with lowest operating costs of any full-size car, regardless of the number of cylinders. And Chevrolet provides Bodies by Fisher — smarter, roomier and more lastingly quiet.

Drive a Chevrolet Six. You will find one pleasure and advantage after another to emphasize the fact: It's Wise to Choose a Chevrolet Six!

CASTORIA WILL DO IT!

When your child needs regulating remember this: the organs babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged, never forced. That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments: colic, gas, hiccups, burped, drugs, no purgatives. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. ## Lower Construction Costs

Approximately Eleven Million Dollars Saved In Canada Last Year

Approximately $11,000,000 was saved in Canada last year in the cost of construction of dwellings and other buildings, in 61 cities, by the reduced cost of materials, the department of trade and commerce reports in a statistical review. This amount represents roughly one-fifth of the reduction in the total value of building permits issued during the year as compared with 1926.

A report shows that the aggregate value of building permits in 61 cities last year was $110,971,410, a reduction of $55,000,000 from 1926. The index of prices of building materials dropped 20 per cent. during the year. Compared, however, with figures for 1920, the peak post war inflation period, the cost of building materials has dropped by nearly 40 per cent. while the total value of permits issued was only down five per cent.

Detailed figures from 50 of the 61 cities show that permits were issued during the year for the construction of over 10,000 dwellings and 23,000 other buildings.

Canada Line Has Arranged For Economical Tour Of Ceylon and India

Public interest in India and Ceylon has become intensified in recent months, an interest which finds expression in an unusual, "economical" tour of Ceylon and India, just arranged for the Canada Line in collaboration with the American Express Company. Following the price trends of the day, the cost will be kept down to a minimum. This is said to be the first time that such an exhaustive tour of India has become possible at popular prices.

The tour leaves New York on March 5th in the "Aquitania." The "Aquitania" will sail direct to the Mediterranean and west will be the second cruise this winter to those waters. The party call at Gibraltar, visiting the Fortifications, Trafalgar Cemetery, and other points of interest in the British Fortress. The following day a call at Algiers will enable the tour party to explore the city thoroughly and to see parts of Algeria. Crossing the Mediterranean again, the "Aquitania" will arrive at Nice on the 14th, two days will be spent along the Riviera, the party proceeding by motor coach to Marseilles.

Here the Ceylon and India party will embark on the S.S. Mongolia, 17,000-ton P. & O. liner, formerly carrying first and second class and now converted to accommodate only tourist class.

Colombo is reached on the 2nd of April and the most interesting parts of Ceylon will be visited during the three days spent there. The party then proceed on their Indian tour, arriving at Madras on the 5th and after visiting the city proceeding by express to Calcutta. After two days in the former Indian capital, the party proceed by mountain railway to Darjeeling, 7,500 feet high in the Himalayas. The usual trip will be made to view the sunrise over Mount Everest and the Himalayas. After returning to Calcutta the party leaves for Benares, one of the world's oldest cities, thence to Agra where a visit will be made to the Taj Mahal, the Fort and the Palaces. There will also be a visit to the deserted city of Fatepur Sikri, returning via Akbar's Tomb at Sikandra. Three days will be spent in Delhi, then returning to the coast by Bombay, visiting the colossal Caves of Elephanta and the Towers of Silence—strange burial places of the Parsees.

For the return journey, the tour party will sail from Bombay on the new P. & O. liner "Strathgairn," 22,000-ton gross, calling at Marseilles. London is reached on May 24th where the party disembark and go by boat-train to Southampton to connect with the Canadian "Montreal" which sails back to New York on May 21st arriving in America on the 27th.

The recent political and social developments in India are expected to attract a large number of Americans and Canadians to this unusually exhaustive tour of Ceylon and India.

Few Of Them Left

Canada's Little Band Of Knighted Gentlemen Growing Less

The death of Sir George Postle reminds us again that time inevitably is drawing closer the ranks of Canada's little band of knighted gentlemen. In the benches of the Senate and the House of Commons titles used to be more common, perhaps, than the qualities of statesmanship. Now in the Upper House is left only Sir Allen Aylesworth to carry on the tradition of knighthood, while in the Commons Sir George Perley and Sir Eugene Forster keep the company, and of the three only Sir George Perley is really active in the public life of the Dominion.

Outside Parliament as well the knights who were politicians are becoming rare under our democratic plan. Sir Thomas White is interested in private affairs; Sir Henry Dronson runs the Ontario Liquor Control Commission; Sir William Mulock, full of years and honors, does his day's work on the Ontario Bench; Sir Robert Borden enjoys the autumn of his days in peace and privacy.

The majority of our remaining knights are outside the ranks of politics—business men, soldiers, educationists. Seven of them are soldiers, beginning with Sir Arthur Currie; one of them, Sir Robert Falconer, is an educationist; the remainder of them are either judges or bankers.

Five barons remain: Atholstan, Beaverbrook, Greenwood, Shaughnessy, Strathcona, but of these, three live permanently in England.

A few decades more, and Canada, we suppose, will be knightless. One may be permitted to wonder whether the consequence will be that more rugged democracy which our Parliament has known some thirteen years ago. We should like to think so, but the world, alas, isn't as simple as that.—Ottawa Journal.

B.C. Coal Production

Coal production in British Columbia for all of 1921 was 1,698,131 tons, a slight decrease from 1,857,131 tons mined in 1920, it was stated at the legislative buildings. December output was 171,811 tons compared to 177,291 tons in December of the previous year. Total decrease from the previous year was 188,859 tons, shared evenly as between nearly all districts.

"Ho, did you?" scoffed the policeman. "Well, you're too bloomin' late 'e's dead."

Higher Taxation

Financial Institutions In Saskatchewan To Contribute Greater Share Of Revenue

Such Saskatchewan financial institutions as banks, trust, loan and mortgage companies, are going to contribute a greater share than they do now to the revenue of the province, it was officially learned.

From such sources, under the provisions of the Corporations Taxation Act, Saskatchewan now derives a revenue of slightly more than $400,000, a large percentage coming from insurance companies.

In the effort to balance the budget by increasing revenues and reducing some forms of public services, the government proposes to make amendments to the Corporations Taxation Act with a view of bringing the revenue from that source to upwards of $600,000, the banks to pay a fair share of the 100 per cent. increase.

A New Industry

Unemployed Men To Be Given Work In Manitoba Forests

Jackpine from Manitoba's forests is to be cut this winter for use as telephone and hydro poles and as square timber, thus giving the province a new industry and a number of unemployed men work. Announcement was made by Hon. W. R. Chubb, Minister of Public Works, that a contract for cutting jackpine in the Lac Du Bonnet district had been let.

Hitherto this wood had not been considered suitable for poles, but recent tests carried out at the suggestion of the Industrial Development Board of Manitoba are said to have proven its value.

CHAPTER XII.—Continued.

"Wait till you're tempted," he said shortly. "Wait till what you want was against what you ought to have—what you've the right to take."

For a moment she made no answer. But faintly like that, the matter suddenly presented itself to her as one of the poignant possibilities of life. Supposing—supposing such a choice should ever be demanded of her? She felt a vague fear catch at her heart, an indefinable dread.

When at last she spoke, the eyes she lifted to meet Tormarin's were troubled. In them he could read the innate honesty which was prepared to face the question he had raised, and behind that—courage. A young untutored courage that only wanted till some call should wake it into fighting nobility.

"I hope," she said with a wistful humility that was rather touching, "I hope I should stick it out. One's ideals, and duty, and other people's rights—it would be horrible to scrap the lot—just for love."

"Worth it, perhaps," you—"his voice was the least bit unsteady—"you haven't been up against love—yet?"

Again she was conscious of that little catch at her heart—the same convulsive tightening of the muscles as one experiences when a telegram is put into one's hand which may, or may not, contain bad news.

"You haven't been up against love yet?"

The words recalled her knowledge of the tragic episode that lay in Tormarin's own past. The whole history she did not know—only the odds and ends of gossip which one woman had confided to another. But here, in the man's brevity of speech, surely lay proof that he had suffered. And if he had suffered, it followed that he must have cared deeply for the woman who had thrown him aside for the sake of another man.

Jean's first generous impulse of pity as she realized this was strangely interrupted by a fleeting disquiet, a subconscious sense of loss. It was only momentary, and not definitely enough for her to express in words, even to herself—hardly more than the slightly blank sensation produced upon a clown suddenly intervening and drops a shadow where a moment before there had been warmth and light.

An instant later it was overcome by her spontaneous sympathy for the man beside her, and, recognizing the rather painful similarity between her father's treatment of Judith Craig and the story she had heard of the unknown woman's treatment of Tormarin himself, she tactfully deflected the conversation to something that would touch him less closely, launching into description of the life her parents had led at Blenheim.

"They were wonderfully happy together there. Not in the least—as I suppose they ought to have been—an awful example of poetic justice!" she declared. "Glyn used to call Blenheim his 'House of Dreams-Come-True'."

"Glyn?"—suddenly reminding her of a pious Christian name.

She smiled.

"I never called them father and mother. They would have loathed it. Glyn used to say that anything which seemed so much of domesticity would kill romance!"

"That sounds like all that I have ever heard about him," said Tormarin, smiling too. "So does the 'House of Dreams-Come-True'. It's a charming idea."

"He took it from one of Jacqueline's songs. She had a glorious voice, you know."

"Yes, so I've heard. I suppose you have inherited it?"

She shook her head.

"No, I wish I had. But Jacqueline insisted on trying to teach me singing, all the same. Poor dear! I was a dreadful disappointment to her, I'm afraid."

"Couldn't you sing the 'House of Dreams' song?" I'm rather curious to hear the remainder of it.

Jean rose and created to the piano.

"Oh, yes, I can sing you that. Jacqueline always used to say it was the only thing I sang as if I understood it, and Glyn declared it was because it agreed with my 'confounded principles'."

She smiled up at him as her fingers slid into the prelude of the song, but her little gaze against herself brought no answering smile to his lips. Instead, he stood waiting for the song to begin with an odd kind of expectancy on his face.

Jean had most certainly not inherited her mother's exquisite voice, but she had a quaint little pipe of her own, with a clouded, husky quality in it that was not without its appeal. It lent a wistful charm to the simple words of the song.

"It's a strange road leads to the House of Dreams,
To the House of Dreams-Come-True,
Its hills are steep and its valleys deep,
And salt with tears the Wayfarers weep."

The Wayfarers—I and you."

"But there's sure a way to the House of Dreams,
To the House of Dreams-Come-True."

We shall find it yet, ere the sun has set,
If we face straight on, come fine,
Come we,
Wayfarers—I and you."

The soft, husky voice ceased, and for a moment there was silence. Then Tormarin said quietly:

"Thank you. I don't think your mother need have felt any great disappointment concerning your voice. It has its own qualities, even if it is not suited to the concert hall."

"But the words of the song?" questioned Jean eagerly. "Don't you like them?"

"It's a pretty enough idea," he said, with a faint significant smile on his last word. "But for some of us the 'House of Dreams-Come-True' has never been built. Or, if it has, we've lost the way there."

There was a note of rigid acceptance in his voice, as though he no longer stood against the decision of destiny, and Jean's eager sym-

I take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I find them a wonderful pick-me-up."

So writes E. M. Ward, Saskatoon, Sask., who further states: "I would recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all sufferers from that miserable, listless feeling. I have taken the pills on many occasions, and they seem to tone up my blood wonderfully. I have been anaemic for years, and that, when get down after taking several boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the color comes back to my cheeks and I have wonderful vitality."

pathy leaped impulsively to her lips. "Don't say that," she began. Then checked herself, frowning a little. "I hate to hear you speak in that way," she went on more quietly. "It sounds as though there were nothing worth trying for—worth waiting for. I like to believe that everyone has a house of dreams which may 'come true' some day." She paused, and then, straight on, came fine, come we."

Her eyes had a far-away look in them, as though they were envisioning that narrow, winding track which leads, somewhere, to the place where dreams—even the most wonderful of them—shall become realities.

As Tormarin listened to Jean's young, eager voice, his face softened and some of the tired lines in it seemed to smooth themselves out.

"Little comrade," he said gently, and she felt her breath quicken as he called her again by the name which he had used at Blenheim, and once since, when they had come suddenly face to face at Combe Exile Station. But that second time the words had escaped him unawares.

Now he was using them deliberately, withholding no part of their significance. "Little comrade," I think the man who 'fares straight on' with you for fellow-traveller 'will' find the House of Dreams-Come-True. But it isn't—just any man who may start that Journey with you. It mustn't be—his grave eyes said—here intently—"a man who has tried to find the road once before—and failed."

It seemed to Jean that, as he spoke, the wall which he had built up between them since she came to Blenheim crumbled away. This was the same man she had known at Montavon, whose hands reached out to her, and across some dividing line which neither he nor she might pass. She knew now that that dividing line must be—the shadow flung by a past love, his love for Nesta Freyre which had ended in hopeless tragedy.

There must always be a limit set to any friendship or other, so much as he had implied at their first meeting. But, since then, he had taken even that friendship from her, substituting a deliberate indifference against which she had struggled in vain.

And now, without knowing quite how it had come about, the barrier was down. They were comrades once more—she and the Englishman from Montavon, and she was conscious of a great content that it should be so.

For the moment she asked nothing more, was unconscious of any further wish. The woman in her still shimmered, and, in the girl, this friendship seemed enough. She did not realize that something deeper, more imperative in its ultimate demands, was mingled with it—was, indeed, unrecognized by her, the very essence of it.

Unshaken Faith in Future of Canada Expressed at Royal Bank Annual Meeting

"I have witnessed many depressions during the last fifty years, and I see nothing in this one which weakens my faith in this country."—Sir Herbert Holt, President.

"While I do not wish to voice any prediction as to the date of business recovery, it will be very disappointing if an improvement does not take place in 1932."—M. W. Wilson, Vice-President and General Manager.

At the annual meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada held at the Head Office in Montreal, both the President, Sir Herbert Holt, and the Vice-President and General Manager, Mr. M. W. Wilson, were emphatic in their expressions of unqualified confidence in Canada. Sir Herbert Holt's mature and world-wide business experience is reflected in his statement "I have witnessed many depressions during the course of the last fifty years and I see nothing in this one which weakens my faith in this country."

The tone of both addresses was one of quiet optimism, exemplified by Mr. Wilson's remark, "While I do not wish to voice any prediction as to the date of business recovery, it will be very disappointing if an improvement does not take place during 1932." The leaders of industry and finance in the principal countries are capable of bringing this about and the instigating against any such block the way will be severe indeed." The President pointed out that with quoted values of most securities well under their intrinsic value, the government could be expected as and when measures were taken which would result in a rapid recovery in the United States. Earlier in his remarks he had referred to the splendid record of the Canadian banking system during a time when disorganization in finance was accentuating the depression in many other countries. He expressed the opinion that the relatively satisfactory position of Canada could be attributed in no small degree to the stability of our banking organization and the way in which industry had been supported.

Before moving the adoption of the report Sir Herbert referred with profound regret to the death of Mr. Wells, his lifetime spent in the service of the bank. "In his passing the bank has lost a wise councillor, a devoted and intimate friend, and Canada an eminent banker and distinguished citizen."

He dealt briefly with the situation in agriculture and the principal manufacturing industries. Sir Herbert referred to the plans which are under way for the consolidation of the principal newspaper companies in Eastern Canada, and expressed the opinion that the development through difficult of accomplishment was a constructive one and highly desirable if Canada was to continue to improve the supremacy to which she is entitled by reason of her natural advantages.

Railways.

The appointment of a railway commission was mentioned with approval and the belief expressed that such a commission should be capable of bringing in recommendations which would in large measure solve the present very serious situation caused by the excessive tariff duplication and other causes. The President stated "Savings to the country of over $5,000,000 a year are possible and this without impairment of service to the public."

Imperial Conference.

Pointing out that as long as other nations raise insupportable tariff barriers against British Empire goods it is necessary that the different parts of the Empire should protect themselves by concerted action, he expressed hope in the results of the Imperial Conference to be held in Ottawa, provided careful analysis and close study produced a scientific tariff structure which would stimulate reciprocal Empire trade without handicapping home industry.

Public Finance.

The success of the National Service Loan was referred to as a notable achievement. He stressed the fact that both internal and external revenue had been reduced by the decline in the activity of trade and that excessive expenditures by governments and municipalities had placed a heavy burden on the shoulders of the people. "There never was a time in our history when it was so imperative that the Government should reduce the cost of administration and balancing their budget."

Closing his remarks Sir Herbert said in part "It has been said that it is darkest just before the dawn, and the prevailing depression conditions have seemed most discouraging at a time when improvement had already begun. The confidence in the depression must of itself tend to produce a strong reaction. It may well be that the countries are now on the verge of a rise in the price level."

Poultry history goes back to the time of the Chinese, Emperor Fu Ho, who lived in 2300 B.C., and who taught his people to breed fowls.

With a sound and strongly integrated banking system, no important investments in depreciated securities of foreign governments, an industries and vireo people who have maintained their morale unimpaired, and with a system of government permitting prompt and decisive action, Canada is in a relatively satisfactory position and we are justified in looking to the future with confidence."

General Manager's Address.

Mr. M. W. Wilson, Vice-President and General Manager, stressed the maintenance of the Bank's assets at a figure as high as $825,000,000, and the fact that the Bank's record of existing business but also the acquisition of new and desirable connections. He referred to the National Over-Subscription of the Dominion of Canada National Service Loan as an achievement of which our government and Canadians generally may well be proud.

Strong Liquid Position Maintained.

The liquid position of the bank was maintained and its solvency ratio as a year ago, quickly realizable assets being more than 48% of liabilities, was referred to in referring to the enviable record of the Canadian banking system during the period of a world depression. "The liquid position of the bank," he said, "is a reflection of the needs of the country has been closely and carefully watched. The type of organization under which they operate enables our banks to take a broad view of the transactions that come before them and I think it will be admitted that the disposition has been to deal with problems in a sympathetic and constructive manner."

Business in Other Countries.

"Entirely satisfactory" were the words used in describing the bank's experience during the last year in other foreign countries where it operates.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that the bank's foreign branches have never been allowed to expose themselves to risk of loss through exchange fluctuations and that its assets have been during the last year had been entirely satisfactory.

Commodity Levels.

The General Manager expressed the opinion that the restoration of commodity price levels to the basis of 1924-1925 was essential to a really satisfactory recovery in world business. He made favourable reference to the anti-inflation measures now being considered by the United States Congress and felt that they justified the hope that corrective forces would soon be at work in that country.

Business Psychology.

"As the depression continues the factor of business psychology is one of constantly increasing importance," he said. "Disturbing factors of lack of confidence are largely responsible for the extremes to which world business has been driven. He indicated that we in Canada had been particularly fortunate in this respect and said, "Confidence in our country and our ability to solve the problems that present themselves is above the average and in my opinion is amply justified by our past record and future prospects." Lack of international confidence was the main obstacle in the way to world-wide business recovery. Mr. Wilson went on to express the opinion that confidence should be restored by cooperation between the leaders of politics and finance in the principal countries. Signs are not lacking that progress may be made along these lines and this formed the basis for his statement "While I do not wish to voice any prediction as to the date of business recovery, it will be very disappointing if an improvement does not take place during 1932."

Mr. Wilson pointed out in vigorous terms that we must not get into the habit of using the word 'business recovery' as a term of convenience, but reduced earnings for the time being being inevitable, we should be grateful to the government for the transition of a great majority of our Canadian concerns are more than covering up the losses of the past, with reasonable economy and hard work, we shall find that Canada will be one of the first countries to feel the good results of business recovery."

SICK stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are overstimulated.

Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour. Also, kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless dose neutralizes many times its volume of acid. For 50 years it has stood with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful of water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Grade and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Give proof this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable longings.

Skid Insurance.

We have yet to see either a tire-tread or a tire-chain guaranteed to be skid-proof under all conditions, although proper trends and chains will undoubtedly lessen the hazard.

Collision insurance applies to damage done to your car by skidding into a curb, post or other fixed object, as well as collision with another vehicle. For this reason, such insurance is especially valuable during the winter, when roads are often slippery with ice, snow, or slush.

It is impossible to continue to live on a dollar a day in the present day. Interest cannot be paid. Money cannot be made. In putting the railroads in a state of money-making, the government is saving the whole country. (The Journal, N.Y. Tribune, March 10, 1932.)

Indication of the contribution made and being made to civilization by the engineering profession was demonstrated at the 46th annual convention of the Engineering Institute of Canada held at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, recently. Skating, the sport that has had the greatest growth of any winter activity in the past decade, reached its peak this year with thousands of skiers trekking out to the Laurentians, north of Montreal, every weekend.
